

WORKING WITH CRUISE OPERATORS. ANYTIME. ANYWHERE.

Meeting your global challenges

WORKING WITH CRUISE OPERATORS ANYTIME, ANYWHERE

Today's cruise market is busy, competitive, and truly international in both its size and its clientele.

This presents a complex set of human, legal and commercial challenges which require special expertise with a truly global reach.

PEOPLE AT SEA - OUR SPECIALITY

Marine Response has been working with the cruise and passenger sectors for decades, building on the casualty, claims, legal and medical backgrounds of its team to meet the specific challenges posed by this rapidly changing part of the industry.

We've evolved with the cruise sector to acquire a unique understanding of the problems you face, and the most effective ways to resolve them.

PASSENGERS - A PRECIOUS CARGO

Despite the great lengths you go to, passengers and their property will always encounter the unforeseen.

They may also feel that they have cause for complaint with their experience on board.

Marine Response has the skills and resources to assess the facts and work towards a satisfactory conclusion.

- Illness or injury suffered on board, in transit or during excursions
- Delays or cancellations due to weather, technical issues or third party failures
- Loss/damage to property
- Complaints with embarkation, excursions, or life on board
- Allegations of harassment or assault

EMERGENCY RESPONSE

Sometimes a medical emergency will arise which requires immediate action.

Marine Response's global network is standing by around the clock.

- Advice on available facilities worldwide and possible diversion of vessel
- Monitoring of treatment through local correspondents and case managers
- Escorted repatriations or full MedEvacs
- Immediate and follow-up care in the home country

CLAIMS & LITIGATION

Some claims will not go away, and some complex disputes cannot be solved easily.

As a passenger claims and insurance specialist, Marine Response is equipped to resolve the most difficult, sensitive and inflamed of passenger disputes:

- Meetings with passengers and families
- Gathering witness evidence
- Medical assessments to establish injury and prognosis
- Investigation of suspicious claims
- Mediation and ADR
- Settlement meetings and documents

Where legal proceedings are served or local expert legal advice is needed, Marine Response works with its extended legal network worldwide, to apply the necessary skills while always keeping costs under control and in proportion.

- Fast, expert advice on local procedures, risks and costs
- Application of international standards to local disputes
- Athens Convention & Protocols
- Warsaw and Montreal Conventions
- EU Package Travel Regs
- Defence and settlement in local courts
- Contribution and recovery from boat and excursion operators

From routine complaints to difficult negotiations, and management of litigation and recoveries worldwide, Marine Response is the natural partner for passenger claims.

Patrick Bond – Claims Director

Newcastle +44(0)1661 822 904

London +44(0)20 7204 2548

claims@marine-response.com

www.marine-response.com